

At WHYY 91FM , the primary NPR AFFILIATE in Philadelphia, it is our goal to use digital radio capability to provide regional listeners with two distinct streams of content. We will continue to broadcast our current news/talk format, which includes insightful and provocative news and public affairs programming, such as Morning Edition, Radio Times with Marty Moss-Coane, and Fresh Air with Terry Gross. On the second stream we will provide listeners with programming that explores arts and culture , including biographical programs on great artists, exploration of local cultural institutions, symphonic music, and opera. yours truly, Paul A.
